Chinese group combats COVID-19 in Iowa

Des Moines, Iowa -- In an effort to protect Iowa communities, the Chinese Association of Iowa has launched a fundraising campaign to purchase needed health supplies such as N95 masks and other personal protection devices for Iowa-based government offices, law enforcement, health care providers, and educational institutions.

Manufacturers of health supplies in China have transitioned back into production and members of the Chinese Association of Iowa are using their personal and industry connections to bring these health supplies to Iowa as quickly as possible.

According to Executive Director Swallow Yan, "In these uncertain times, the Chinese Association of Iowa wants to do its part to minimize the impact of COVID-19 within the community and prevent further spread of the virus." Yan continues, "Here, we believe we can contribute to the people of Iowa by assisting in obtaining needed health supplies."

or text VIRUS to 44-321.

Any contributions received will be used for the purchase and distribution of health supplies to government, health care organizations, and educational institutions.

Founded in 1987, the Chinese Association of Iowa is a community-based member-focused non-profit organization.

Together we will make difference.
